Six Sophomores to Compete in Merrill Prize-Speaking Contest Thursday

Vol. XXVIII. MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, VT., MAY 27, 1931 No. 29

1931 SENIOR WEEK ARRANGEMENTS ARE NEARLY COMPLETED

McNEELY'S BAND TO PLAY AT SENIOR BALL

Undergraduate Program Includes Features for Alumni.

The activities of senior week, a culmination of all other events of the college year, will extend from Saturday, June 13, through Monday, June 15.

The first part of the senior activities was carried out in chapel at the service last Sunday evening, when the class of 1931 marched in traditional procession to their seats. This was the first appearance of the seniors in their caps and gowns, which they will wear for the rest of this week.

Another pre-commencement traditional ceremony will take place in chapel Friday, when the annual "moving-up" day is held. At this time the juniors and sophomores will move up to the senior and junior seats, the senior class taking the sophomore seats in the rear of the chapel.

Class day exercises will be held at 10:00 a. m. Saturday, June 13, with Dean Hazeltine giving the honors. Because of the trustees' meeting coming at the same hour, President Moody will be unable to take charge of the exercises. Prof. John F. Haller will conduct the rehearsals for both the class day and commencement processions.

Saturday evening an informal dance will be held at the gymnasium, exclusively for alumni. There will also be meetings of the alumni council, alumnae association, and associated alumni. These functions are being directed by Howard C. Seymour '27, in the absence of Mr. Wiley on account of illness.

NEW PLANS OUTLINED FOR MOUNTAIN CLUB

Equipment to Be Purchased and Publicity Sent to Sub-Freshmen.

The governing board of the Mountain club at its meeting Monday afternoon, May 25, outlined a definite procedure for next years activities and appropriated funds for equipment and publicity among the incoming freshman class. Equipment manager Clemens '33, will make purchases this summer in New York city at advantageous prices, and W. Storrs Lee, college editor, will have charge of the publicity during the vacation months.

Plans have been made to have knapsacks, cooking utensils and other necessaries at the disposal of the club members when college opens, so that a party of twenty-five can be cared for conveniently. Members will be allowed to use this material at any time, and it will be available to non-members on payment of a nominal fee to cover depreciation. The club hopes to purchase a supply of snowshoes for next winter if sufficient funds are available after the new membership drive next October. Present tickets are valid until October first, entitling holders to the privileges of the club.

An illustrated pamphlet describing the Mountain club and containing interesting information about the trails on the mountain campus will be sent to each sub-freshman during the summer, so that they will have an acquaintance with the club's aims when they arrive here in the fall. There will be several hikes in September.

OPTIMA PRIZE GIVEN TO MARIAN SINGISER

Marion Jones '32, Receives the First Emma Willard Scholarship Award.

Marian Singiser '32, of Watertown, Mass., was presented the Optima prize at chapel this morning. The Emma Willard scholarship was awarded at the same time to Marion Jones '32, of Hanover, N. H.

The Optima prize is awarded annually to the junior woman who, in the judgement of her class, is most typical of Middlebury. It was established by Mr. and Mrs. Roger S. Baldwin in memory of Henry Hobart Vail and in appreciation of the benefits derived by their daughter, Catherine, during her years at Middlebury. Selection for the $250 award is based on character, scholarship, and personality.

Miss Singiser has played on her class volley ball, basketball, and baseball teams, and has been chosen three years for the All-Midd hockey team. She has been prominent in Y. W. C. A. work, and in debating circles, having been elected to Tau Kappa Alpha in her sophomore year. She was on the circulation staff of the 1932 Kaleidoscope, is a member of the English and Spanish clubs. Miss Singiser is secretary of her class and president of the women's student government association. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The Emma Willard scholarship is presented this year for the first time. Full tuition is to be given annually to a member of the women's college at the close of her junior year.

Miss Jones has been outstanding in musical activities. She sings in both choir and glee club, and is a member of the orchestra and A Tempo club. She is also active in debating and dramatics, being a member of Tau Kappa Alpha and Wig and Pen. She is representative to the student government council, and is a member of the French and English clubs, the Panhellenic council, and Mortar Board. Her sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma.

"M" CLUB CHOOSES 1931-32 OFFICERS

Officers for the year 1931-32 were elected by the "M" club at a meeting held after chapel Monday, May 25. Charles E. Thrasher '32, of Fitchburg, Mass., was elected president and Proctor M. Lovell '33, of Springfield, Vt., was chosen secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Thrasher succeeds George E. Foote '31, and William E. Davis '32 held Mr. Lovell's position last year.

President-elect Thrasher is a prominent member of the junior class, holding the presidency of his class as well as of next year's Waubanakee six. He recently received the $250 alumni award for the most outstanding man in the class of 1932. Holding two varsity letters and freshman numerals in football, he was elected to the captaincy of the eleven for the next season.

DANIEL WILLARD TO BE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER THIS YEAR

President of Baltimore and Ohio Will Deliver Address.

WILLARD'S CAREER BEGUN IN VERMONT

He is the Greatest Man in Railroad Business Today.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and one of the greatest railroad men living today, will deliver the commencement address this year.

The college has been very fortunate in securing Mr. Willard as commencement speaker. He is one of the most prominent men who has come to Middlebury in many years and an address given by him is sure to be unusually worthwhile.

Daniel Willard was originally a Vermont boy. His early home was in North Hartland, Vermont and he graduated from Windsor high school. He is a self-made man in the railroad business, having worked up through the ranks to his present high position. He has been president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad since 1910 and is now chairman of the board of directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago terminal railroad company, and a director of several other important railways. He is a director of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, president of the board of trustees of John Hopkins university, and a trustee of John Hopkins hospital.

The commencement address will be delivered Monday morning, June 15 as a part of the commencement exercises.

DEFERRED RUSHING ADOPTED FOR FALL

Other Important Changes in Rules for Next Year are Made by Interfraternity Council.

New rushing rules for 1931-1932 have been agreed upon by the Interfraternity council. They will go into effect as soon as they are ratified by the eight fraternities.

The most important change under the new provisions is that rushing does not begin until the fourth Monday after classes commence. During the three weeks before rushing week, fraternity men may greet first year men on the campus or visit them in their rooms, but all conversation is to be on non-fraternity matters.

The bond which each fraternity must furnish has been raised to $300. For overpledging, the whole amount may be forfeited. Other violations of the rules will be punished by the Interfraternity council in any manner which they may deem best.

Rushing week will be divided into three periods. The first extending from the dinner date on Monday to that on Wednesday, the second from dinner on Wednesday to dinner on Friday, and the last period from dinner on Friday until the last evening date. Pledges will be mailed after 10:00 p. m. Friday and may be accepted anytime after chapel Saturday.

One of the important changes in the regulations is the rule providing that a first year man must accept all invitations or refuse all of them during the first two of the periods. A violation of this rule will be considered as breaking a pledge, and the same penalty will be imposed.

CAMPUS AWARDED THIRD IN CONTEST

The Middlebury CAMPUS was ranked third in the annual best papers competition sponsored by the eastern intercollegiate newspaper association, according to announcement made by Marshall Bragdon of the Springfield Republican, at the banquet of the organization held last Saturday at the Hotel Charles, Springfield. The contest was held in connection with the association's annual convention, which took place Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at Springfield college.

First place went to the Williams Record with 106 points; second to the Boston university News with 104 points; and third to the CAMPUS with 100 points. Honorable mentions were given to the Holy Cross Tomahawk, the Brown Daily Herald, and the Tech of M. I. T., in the order named. Other competing papers were the Amherst Student, the Boston college Heights, the Colgate Maroon, the Northeastern Daily News, the Pen State Collegian, the Pensylvanian of the University of Pennsylvania, the Springfield Student, and the Wesleyan Argus.

Judges were Albert I. Prince, city editor of the Hartford Times; Fred N. Smith, editor, the Middletown (Conn.) press; and Marshall Bragdon, of the Springfield Republican.

Commenting upon the winning papers, Mr. Bragdon, chairman of the committee, characterized the Record as a paper "excelling in excellent interviews, and a complete embodiment of what the real college paper should be"; the News as "the best application of the principles of metropolitan journalism to college newspaper work"; and the CAMPUS as a paper with "a definite editorial policy, admirably executed".

The baccalaureate service will be held in Mead chapel Sunday, June 14. A

MERRILL CONTEST TOMORROW NIGHT

Six sophomore men will compete for the Merrill prizes in Mead memorial chapel at 8 p. m. tomorrow evening.

Those who have been chosen to speak are:

Anthony Brackett, "Unemployed"; Frederick Brink, "Recognize Soviet Russia"; Clark Corliss, "Evils in Journalism", Thomas Duffield, "Must We Have War?"; William Weier, "Abuse of Radio Broadcasting"; and Edward Yerovitz, "Blunders That Drove Russia Bolshevik".

The finalists were selected in the trials held May 14, from nine entrants. The committee of selection was composed of Prof. Vernon C. Harrington, Prof. Samuel E. Longwell, and Prof. Perley C. Perkins.

All of the contestants have had considerable experience, for five of them are members of the varsity debating team. In the Parker contests last year, Mr. Brackett placed first, with Mr. Duffield as the runner-up.

STUDENTS VOTE FOR PASS-FAIL SYSTEM AS DESIRABLE HERE

Thayer and Kellogg Are Most Respected Man and Woman.

HARDY AND KENT ARE TWO BEST LOOKING

Honors Go to Yeomans and Singiser as the Most Outstanding.

Middlebury College is in favor of the pass-fail system of marking according to the recent CAMPUS questionnaire. The present percentage system was voted down in both men's and women's colleges.

Other results show that Gerald Thayer '31, is the most respected man in Middlebury and Ellen Kellogg '31, is the most respected woman. George Yeomans '33, and Marian Singiser '32, were voted the most outstanding man and woman respectively by a large majority. Roy Hardy '31 and Virginia Kent '33, were chosen as the best looking man and woman in college.

The college as a whole is decidedly opposed to the compulsory Bible exam. However there was some comment to the effect that a Bible course should be given as a regular college course with credit. Comprehensive exams were also voted down but only by a small majority.

Middlebury is not as dry as it was a year ago, according to the questionnaire. The balloting on the prohibition question was very close. The vote on the segregation question was much more decisive, three fourths of the students being opposed to segregation at Middlebury. A large percentage of the student body also agreed that the men's college needed a new gymnasium and the women's college more dormitories.

Further results of the questionnaire appear on page four of this issue.

HARTHON BILL '33 TO EDIT HANDBOOK

Harthon Bill '33, has been chosen by Pi Delta Epslion as editor-in-chief of the 1931 Middlebury College handbook. The business manager is Henry Newman '33. Evelyn Clement '32, and Elaine Updyke '33, have been selected by the Student Government Association Council as assistant editor and assistant business manager respectively.

The Middlebury College handbook is published each year as a guide for freshmen, and is sometimes known as the Freshman bible. It contains a welcome from the president, a brief summary of Middlebury history and traditions, advice to freshmen, an account of Middlebury's activities and awards, songs and cheers, rules and regulations of the college, the constitutions of the student government association, the women's athletic association, the undergraduate association, the athletic council, and the student council, and a list of professors and location of the offices of Middlebury.

Mr. Bill was assistant manager of the freshman football, assistant manager of varsity football this year, on the CAMPUS news staff, and a member of Pi Delta Epsilon. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Mr. Newman is circulation manager of the 1933 Kaleidoscope, a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, and he participated in inter-fraternity sports, and a member of Delta Upsilon.

MODERN GREEKS.

Politics is one of the things most discussed in dormitories and fraternity houses, but it is never mentioned in such official mediums as college publications or press releases. This discrepancy between actuality and appearance is occasioned by the fact that none is so entirely blameless as to dare to cast the first stone. An influence that is strong enough to affect practically everyone in college, is also strong enough to discourage criticism. We are pleading no innocence, for we justify this writing only upon sensibility to unhealthy methods we all practice, yet officially deny.

A long tabulation of instances of fraternity politics would have no particular value, but mention of a few recent cases is perhaps advisable. One Middlebury class that is particularly efficient at organization, and abounding in a spirit of fraternal cooperation, has working in it a combine which represents about one quarter of the possible votes. Yet that small group has so dominated elections that of the fourteen officials thus far chosen, eleven have been on tickets run by the combine. Three of Middlebury's professional honorary societies have recently held elections, and in every case the executive position went to the same fraternity that had formerly held it, and to the fraternity having the largest delegation among the members. In a senior honor society's selections, every retiring member left behind a wearer of the same insignia, and none left two.

We maintain that these are evidences of a wrong utilization of fraternity membership, and a prostitution of a relationship that should be kept on a higher level. There are those who will maintain that the cases mentioned above are mere coincidences; if they can prove this, then it is to the consistent phenomenon of coincidence that we are opposed!

The evils of fraternity politics fall into three main classes. First and most serious is the whole attitude of placing a few pearls, some gold, and a bit of enamel ahead of the man or woman. We consistently do this. Our first thought at the mention of a name is "What fraternity is he?" When we are considering the chances of any candidate in an election, we immediately check over the fraternity affiliations of those who will vote. Even captaincies and managerships (which should be based on true merit if anything is) can frequently be figured out beforehand by this method. Second, there is the practice of combining, the "you stick with us on this, and we'll fix you up on that" idea. This is capitalization of the first condition, and many individuals grow very adept at it and powerful from it. Third, there is the policy of favoritism, of voting for your own brother, even though he may be inferior in qualifications. (When freshmen are pledged to a fraternity, they intend to seek only the highest and truest values of comradeship, to retain their original intellectual honesty, and to base all choices upon true merit. But a few weeks rooming or boarding at the house, exposure to the "fraternity right or wrong" attitude, the influence of a group that considers it rank tyranny to vote against the brethren—these things cure them, and they become real fraternity men).

To turn to remedies, we admit that there is no very definite one, for it would be futile to make rules against fraternity politics. A fairer and more impartial sense of values is all that is needed (though that may be a rather large requisite). The fraternity is in the main good, for it promotes friendship, and there can be nothing more worthy than true friendship. But when we use the fraternity as a convenient unit for the barter and sale of votes, we lower those very standards of honor, duty, truth, and loyalty, which the fraternity seeks most to elevate.

Galley Grist

LARRY, New York, The Association Press.

"Larry Foster was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Foster of Ridgewood, N. J. He was active in school life, the Hi-Y club, the Boy Scouts, and the Methodist Episcopal church school. He graduated from the Ridgewood high school when he was eighteen, and entered Lafayette college in 1923. At the close of his sophomore year, he went to Arizona for his summer's vacation, and there met with a fatal accident."

This book is composed of excerpts from Larry's diary, letters and compositions, and in them he freely discussed the college life in which he was so interested. Football games, petting parties, collegiate studies, these and many other phases of college life were considered by him in his writing. The book is a frank expression of the mind of a college student who had the courage to express his opinions and maintain his ideals in the face of the usual collegiate difficulties.

Larry was an idealist in the extreme, perhaps, and can hardly be called an average college student, since he had the will to keep his ideals, rather then let them be lowered by the presence of lower standards about him. The reader may think him but a protected youth, who knew little of life, and thus little of real philosophy; being nothing more than another youthful dreamer. Even a casual reading of the book, however, will reveal that Larry thought deeply on the problems which he faced, and that with his idealism there was a marked amount of common sense. He was not merely a person who thought about things, he did them. He entered into numerous extra-curricular activities, and gained a place of popularity among those about him, because of his fine personality.

Any person interested in a frank discussion of college life, carried on in the vernacular and mind of a modern college student, will find this book interesting from start to finish. Other college students reading the book may not agree with Larry, but they will find in him, not only much food for thought, but many ideas to which they will adhere. One may condemn him for having the "long, long thoughts" of youth, but when he writes "Hi you! Say, I'm riding on the crest of a wave, but by George it's a wave I made myself," there is a note of enthusiasm and fine spirit, which should make the reader like Larry.

Whether one agrees with his philosophy or not, his comments on college life and his associates make interesting reading, and surprisingly enough, many a cynical student may find in "LARRY" thoughts which are his own, even though they have long been unexpressed.

A new edition of "SKYWARD" by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd has recently appeared, and it is interesting the note that the new introduction by the author, is dated Middlebury, Vermont, February 13, 1931, that being the date of the writer's lecture here last winter. The new edition includes a new foreward by William A. Moffatt, and is published in the dollar edition of Blue Ribbon books.

When Ned Brace, motion picture producer, humorist and practical joker, longed to learn what people say as they view the body of a dead friend, he decided to play corpse. He gathered some friends in his home, and with his wife and a few very intimate acquaintances, staged a fake murder. Then, having been killed supposedly, he had the chance to listen to his friend's comments regarding him. Then came an end to mirth; his wife finally pulled the covering from him, to find that he had in reality been murdered.

The remainder of the story deals with the search for the murderer. The guilty party is finally discovered because his wife, in trying to protect their son from suspicion, actually condemns her husband. The sound recordings of the conversation, which was carried on over Brace's dead body, (these recordings being made as a part of the original joke) also play an important part in the running down of the criminal.

While the book ends, as many such books do, with the murderer being killed as he tries to make his escape, it has the virtue of a well planned and manipulated plot. It is novel because of the rather unusual manner in which the murderer is discovered, and the author successfully keeps his readers in suspense until the very end.

Shreds and Patches

These sudden weather changes hit the poor colyumists harder than any other animal, it seems, for we had a whole column planned featuring balmy weather, and it went and turned frigid again.

When the music studio is in full cry these spring afternoons with all the windows open and voice and instrumental classes hard at it, the whole effect rather suggests an overturned caliope, don't you think?

And the other night when you heard that discord, that particular discord, while the band was practising, it was occasioned by the third basehorn from the left, when he undertook to play a June bug, on his music, y'understand.

In the line of student revelry, Harvard has its Rheinhardts, Pennsylvania its Rowbottoms, and the Saturday Evening Post its Quackenbushes, but here at Middlebury we just throw water, by heck.

Our hearty sympathy is expressed for the pathetic individual who has been trying for years to get across a clever wisecrack in the local palace of the motion picture. Maybe, if he keeps at it . . . Meanwhile, we do appreciate having the more subtle points of screen dialogue interpreted.

After a classic representation of the deluge itself last Saturday, the big track meet actually took place, before packed stands in Burlington. Ah, the thrill of seeing a winner wade up through the driving rain and dive over the finish line! The hurdlers were the only runners who left the surface, as Mr. Ripley would point out.

No matter how much ridicule is poked at student walkouts, they occasionally gain their ends, an example of which took place when the rioting students of Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., secured the resignation of their President Baker. They accused him of autocracy and lack of sympathy with the athletic program. Note: there is no ominous insinuation here whatever.

And fifty medical students, at Valladolid, Spain, insisted on the omission of year examinations, this spring, on account of time out for the current revolution. Opposed, they locked the faculty up without supper, until the plea was granted. No, there is nothing ominous here, either.

Once again the annual opportunity has rolled around for brilliant wits to nominate Ed Lockwood as the most outstanding man at Middlebury, and Charlie Shaw as the greatest figure in world politics. Yes, the CAMPUS questionnaire has been tabulated. The fraternity question was answered in only eight different ways, and the sorority ditto in six, which ought to prove something.

Well, everybody, the far-famed crew races are now history. The authorities turned out to be heartless prevaricators, when we found neither boat train accomodations nor radio play-by-play descriptions. We are mildly curious as to the use to which our five dollars, paid out for a Rutland R. R. observation seat, will be put.

Friday afternoon it was clearly demonstrated how four errors by the catcher of one team can be turned into one run by the right fielder of the other team.

NOTICE

The number of openings for student employment in the men's college will be very limited for the coming year. Nevertheless any student desiring to make application should do so on or before May 29. This includes those who wish to apply for the positions they now hold.

NOTICE FOR SENIORS

This office desires to be of the utmost service to seniors as well as returning alumni and will be glad to render all possible assistance in making reservations and securing tickets for the various events which are scheduled on the Commencement program. After 2 p. m. Friday, June 12, and throughout Commencement, headquarters will be located in the Egbert Starr Library. A limited number of guests of seniors can be accommodated in the college dormitories, and the office will be glad to assist others in finding places in the village. A charge of $1.50 a day per person will be made for those rooming in the dormitories. Meals will be furnished at the following rates: Breakfast, $.40; Lunch, $.50; and Dinner $.75.

Seniors of the women's college wishing to entertain relatives or other guests during Commencement should file requests not later than June 6, in the office of the Dean of the women's college.

All who are assigned rooms in the dormitories are reguested to register in the Egbert Starr library immediately on arrival in Middlebury. Keys will be assigned there.

Prof. J. F. Haller, Commencement marshall, announces that each senior is entitled to two tickets for the Commencement exercises at the Congregational church June 15. Announcement will be made as to the distribution of these tickets at a meeting of the senior class. Each senior will please apply personally for his allotment. No tickets will be given out by proxy. Limitation of space makes it necessary to limit the tickets for the Commencement exercises. Seniors themselves will be assigned special places and will not need tickets for their personal use.

Each senior is entitled to one free ticket for the Commencement dinner, Monday, June 15. The charge for guests is $1.00 each. The number of seats is limited to 300 and as there are usually more desiring to attend than can be accommodated, it is necessary to require those desiring tickets to make application in advance. Application should be made at the Commencement headquarters at the library between 3:30 p. m. Friday, June 12 and Sunday noon, June 14. Definite seat assignments will be ready at the headquarters at the library by 9 a. m. Monday, June 15. Tickets not called for by 12:45 p. m. Monday, June 15 will be placed on general sale. It is expected that seniors reserving places for the dinner will use them or inform us of any cancellation before 12:30 Monday.

Seniors and their guests are welcome to attend the luncheon at Bread Loaf on Sunday, June 14. The charge for the luncheon is $1.25 a plate. Reservations should be made, in advance, at this office. Tickets not called for by 12:30 p. m. Sunday, June 14, will be placed on general sale.

STEDMAN RECEIVES FIRST PARKER PRIZE

Kennett F. Stedman was the recipient of first prize in the annual Parker oratorical contest for freshmen of the men's college held at Mead chapel Monday evening. Mr. Stedman's address was on "Capital Punishment". Harold D. Watson won second prize with his oration entitled "Why Germany Lost the War".

Lester H. Lovell, speaking on "The Citizen, His Duties and Priveleges Under the Constitution of the United States", won third place and George R. Erskine, whose speech was entitled, "Aims and Values of Scouting in America", received the fourth award. Other contestants were Thomas R. Noonan and Donald B. McKee. Prizes are fifty, thirty-five, twenty-five and fifteen dollars for each of the four places respectively.

The contest was presided over by Pres. Paul D. Moody. The judges for the evening were Mr. J. O. Grandstaff, assistant superintendent of the Morgan horse farm, Mr. A. D. Seaver, principal of Middlebury high school, and Dr. H. I. Slocum of Middlebury.

Mr. Stedman, speaking informally, emphasized the fact that public sentiment has gradually grown against capital punishment and that today there is a very strong popular feeling against the death penalty. The speaker said in conclusion that society cannot remedy one crime by committing another.

Mr. Watson, in showing why Germany lost the war said that the defeat did not come because of faulty preparation but from too much self-confidence. In illustrating the situation, Mr. Watson quoted the proverb, "Pride Goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall."

REV. TWEEDY SAYS JOY IS IN RELIGION

The Rev. H. H. Tweedy of Yale university gave the final vespers sermon of the year, May 24, at 7:00 p. m. The seniors appeared for the first time in their caps and gowns. Reverend Tweedy spoke on the false ideas which many people have, that happiness and religion do not go hand in hand.

He said in part: "Jesus spoke these words 'These things have I spoken unto you that my joy may be in you and that your joy may be filled full.' This certainly contradicts the common idea of 'Be good and you will go to heaven but you won't have a good time'. Jesus put religion and happiness together. To be sure, he was a 'man of sorrows', but he was also a man of the most beautiful joy. He had a strong body, a fine mind, and a pure spirit. Christianity, itself, is a most joyous religion. Jesus did not come to limit joy but He did ask us to remember three things.

"First, put joy in its right place, the second place. Appetites and passions are good but they should come after duty. Happiness comes to you not when you seek it, but when it seeks you.

"Secondly, happiness should be of the real sort. The great white way is an inspiring spectacle, but the end of much of it lies in the slums and Potter's field. An eminent sociologist says that more lives are sacrificed on the altar of pleasure than on those of war, famine, and pestilence together.

"Thirdly, whatever your creed may be, the essence of it is 'love for God, love for man'. Love for man does not mean sentimentality, because we cannot love everyone, but it means a boundless, courageous good-will. In these terrible economic conditions, the most depressing sign is that of the man selling apples at the foot of the Empire State building. It is the big problem of the age. But if every manufacturer and every employer had this good-will, economic problems would vanish. Race problems would go if the brotherhood of man were established."

SAXONIAN REVIEW

One of the curiosities of literary history is the tale of the method of writing employed by Anthony Trollope. It is said that Trollope was able to work so methodically, with so little reliance upon the long suffering spirit of inspiration, that he could contract for the completion of his novels with a precision that was almost infallible. Trollope always wrote four hours every morning, between six and ten. He knew how many words per hour his industrious pen could turn out and by a simple mathematical process, he was able to inform his publishers as to the number of pages per week they might expect of him.

Today we should call Trollope a journalist. We deny the privileges of authorship to writers whose command of the technique of their craft is not subject to the vicissitudes of temperament. Our attitude towards genius savors of the naivete of the early romanticists. We relish that primitivism which values intensity of writing more highly than quality of writing. There are dangers in Trollope's method—the oblivion into which many of his novels have fallen testifies to that. But the attendance upon inspiration is sometimes as unprofitable as the cultivation of regularity in writing.

Doubtless we have been using indirections to make directions clear. What we mean to say is that, we believe that most of the writers for the last Saxonian, two or three of the poets excepted, should be put through a rigorous course of grammatical training. There are evidences of excellent literary ability in the writing of the last issue. But it is an untutored ability. On one page of the principal short story we counted eight sentences containing major errors.

We do not wish to discourage those responsible for the Saxonian. They have every right to feel proud of the magazine they sponsor. It is superior to many of its kind. The virgin earth needs only cultivation with a fine toothed rake of consideration for the technique of expression. A.B.C.

Delta Upsilon Holds Its Formal Dance at the House

Middlebury chapter of Delta Upsilon held its annual formal dinner dance at the D. U. house Saturday evening, May 23. Following the dinner dancing was enjoyed with music by Ed Trautman's Blue Ribbon radio entertainers. The patrons and patronesses were Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Cady, Prof. and Mrs. J. S. Kingsley and Mrs. Maud O. Mason.

Among the guests from out-of-town were the Misses Frances Berger and Louise Gates of Hingham Center, Mass., Helen Byers of St. Johnsbury, Mary Hatch of Rutland, Marion Kenney of Glens Falls, N. Y., Margaret Nichols of Norton, Mass., Elizabeth Parker '30, of Bristol, Lorraine Russell of Rutland, Margaret Templeton of Montpelier and Claire Tripp of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Sanford Witherell '29, of Belmont Orchards, Arthur Pierce '30, of Melrose, Mass., and Thomas Sun '30, of Yale university.

Delta Kappa Epsilon Holds Its Annual Formal Dance

Forty-two couples attended the annual formal dance of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity held Saturday evening, May 23. Following a formal dinner at the Inn, dancing was enjoyed at the D. K. E. house. Music was furnished by the Black Pirate orchestra of Burlington. The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fritz, Miss Rose Martin, Mrs. Maud O. Mason, Prof. Harry G. Owen and Mrs. Bernice Yeaw.

Among the guests from out-of-town were the Misses Carmen Anderson and Doris Freeman of Brandon, Madelene Chase and Ruth White of Brattleboro, Mildred Cronin and Rose Lawrence of Bennington, Mary A. Drake '29, of Boston, Mass., and Esther Rushlow '29, of New York city, A. Victor Boisseau '30 and Stewart Groff of Carmen, N. Y., Charles B. Hornsberger ex-'30, Roderick Hagenbuckle ex-'31 and Glenn Furbush ex-'31 of Boston, Mass.

Program of Negro Music Features A Tempo Meeting

An open meeting of the A Tempo club was held at 7:30 last Friday evening in the music studio. Virginia Cole '31, was in charge of the program which delt with negro music.

The origin and transmission of the songs was discussed by Cleone Ford '32; plantation songs were rendered by a quintette composed of Helena Dundas '31, Sarah Harnden '32, Marion Jones '32, Carolyn Pike '32 and Winifred Webster '32; religious and spiritual music was illustrated by a violin solo by Elizabeth Abell '31, a vocal solo by Elizabeth Pease '31, and a vocal trio composed of Virginia Cole '31, Dorothy Johnson '31, and Elizabeth Pease '31, accompanied by banjos. Miss Fish also gave a solo, "Goin' Home". In conclusion the group sang together some of the favorite negro folk songs.

This was the annual open meeting of the A Tempo club, and several of the present sophomores and juniors were present as well as members of the faculty interested in music and in the work the club is doing.

Avis Collins '32, newly elected president of the A Tempo club announces that such programs as the one given last Friday will be typical of future meetings.

To be eligible for the A Tempo club one must be a junior or senior, must have musical talent, and must have completed some theoretical course in the music department.

KALEID REVIEW

It is a sad, strange fact that too many generations of Middlebury students have ambled through four years of college life without ever having come to a relization of one of the most important formative influences of Middlebury life — the mountains. The Kaleidoscope of the class of 1932 is, in our recollection, the first of a long succession of Middlebury year books to celebrate this unique glory of the college. The editors of the present issue of the junior annual deserve the praise which should redound to all innovators — particularly when their innovations provide a relief from the apparently changeless color scheme of blue and white which has graced former Kaleidoscopes.

The art editors merit particular commendation for the tasteful and consistent decorative scheme which they have evolved. The page borders are particularly well conceived, affording a delicate, but firmly drawn background for the class portraits. The cartoon fronting the class sections provides an element of humor rare, and, for its rarity, welcome. We pause in wonder that the embodiment of the spirit of the junior ever escaped the viligance of the student life committee.

We shall have to modify our paeans of praise in considering the drawings introducing the athletic sections — though perhaps the green panthers should be attributed to the printer. We should have perferred a cover done entirely in green — we have never liked the effect of gilding even in the masterpieces of the trecentist. The campus views present an almost new appearance in their verdant colorings.

It is to be regretted that the present Kaleidoscope board did not see fit to include in their issue the summer school material which last year's board introduced. Although they are not strictly a close concern of the undergraduate body, yet the summer sessions constitute to the world at large Middlebury College. Certainly they warrant attention in a volume which purports to be representative of the college.

The literary quality of the write-ups is excellent and the editorial work in general deserves commendation. We welcome the novelty of the chapel background for the group pictures which appear not only well balanced and grouped but also quite generally free from those minor infelicities which sometime adorn the pages of college annuals. In general we congratulate the class of 1932 for a book which is a credit to the college and to themselves.

Some of you editors in universities full of pre-medic and medic students, will get some good dope for editorials by persuing the article, "A Cure for Doctor's Bills", by Evans Clark, in the October issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

FEEL the difference

HEAR the difference

TASTE THE DIFFERENCE!

Like an oasis in the dusty desert of dried tobacco, the new Camel Humidor Pack brings you the delight of fine quality cigarettes in factory-fresh, mild condition.

Now, wherever you go, you can always be sure of getting a fresh, throat-easy cigarette when you demand Camels.

It's easy to tell the difference. Your sense of touch detects it as you roll a cigarette between your fingers. Dry tobacco is stiff and crumbly. Camels are full bodied and pliant.

Even your ear can tell the difference. For a dried-out cigarette crackles when you roll it.

But the real test is taste and taste is causing a great nation-wide switch of men and women alike to Camels in the scientific new Humidor Pack. As you draw in that fragrant, mild, cool smoke, redolent with the joy of choicest Turkish and mellow Domestic tobacco, only then do you realize the full importance of this new Humidor Pack.

For scorched or dried tobacco is brash and tasteless and its smoke is unkindly hot to the tongue and throat.

If you are already a Camel smoker you have noticed the improvement in this your favorite cigarette.

If you don't smoke Camels, try them for just one day to see how much you're missing. After you've known the mildness and delight of a really fresh cigarette, switch back if you can.

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Women's Colleges Not Rich.

Many rich men's daughters attend the leading women's colleges. But not many rich fathers give money to their daughters' alma maters, nor do philanthropists at large seem to have the women's colleges in mind so often as the men's colleges when there is largesse to be passed around.

In recognition of these facts, eighty literary persons, most of them women, lunched in Manhattan with alumnae of Wellesley, Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Radcliffe, Barnard, Smith and Mt. Holyoke colleges. All present were urged to help create public interest in higher education for girls. Pres. Ellen Fitz Pendleton of Wellesley college complained that the seven colleges represented at the luncheon gave education equivalent to that offered by seven highest ranking male institutions, but received only one-tenth the males' endowment.—Mount Holyoke News.

The Worth of an Education.

Dean Everett Lord, of Boston university, made the statement that a college education is worth approximately $72,000. He claims that increased earning power resulting from higher education is responsible for the figure.

—Weslyan Argus.

The Three S's.

Charles W. Flint, Chancellor of Syracuse university, in his welcoming address to the freshmen, said that within four years the three R's would be replaced by three S's—Studies, Sports, and Social life in college.—Weslyan Argus.

A Room for Reading.

A browsing room has just been opened at Hamilton college for the purpose of encouraging the use of books. Although students may smoke or read in the room, they are not permitted to study there.—Weslyan Argus.

Sign Early for Snap Courses.

A professor at Western Reserve university has recently announced that all those who wish to take his snap courses would ease matters considerably if they would sign up for them early.—Bowdoin Orient.

In 1928 three times as much as was spent on education was spent on tobacco, candy, soft drinks and amusements of various sorts.

Eva Tuttle '32, is Elected Women's Debating Manager

Eva Tuttle '32, has been elected manager of women's debating for next year to succeed Priscilla March '31. The assistant manager will be chosen in the fall.

Miss Tuttle was a member of the hygiene and debating clubs her freshmen and sophomore years, varsity debating for all three years, a CAMPUS tryout her sophomore year, and is a member of the German club. She is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha and is secretary of that organization.

Cosmos Club Holds Picnic as Last Meeting of Year

The Cosmos club held their last meeting of the year at the Weathervane Inn Friday, May 22. Sixty people, including members of the club and their families attended. A picnic supper was held in the Weathervane lane from 5 to 6 p. m., when the members returned to the inn for cards until 10:30.

Prof. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Beck, Prof. and Mrs. Douglas S. Beers, Prof. and Mrs. Ellsworth B. Cornwall, Prof. and Mrs. Frank E. Howard, Miss Clara Knapp, and Miss Mary Rosevear composed the committee in charge of the meeting.

PANTHER LOSES TWO, DEFEATS CLARKSON

Middlebury Wins From Engineers 4-2; Is Defeated by Tufts 9-8 and Vermont 3-0.

The Panther baseball nine has lost two games and captured one in the past week of play. Clarkson was the victim to the tune of 4-2, while Tufts took over Middlebury by a 9-8 score and Vermont triumphed 3-0. Middlebury's playing has shown great improvement since the early season contests, both the Vermont and Clarkson games being good baseball.

Tufts 9, Middlebury 8.

The first game with Tufts nearly resulted in a victory for the Hesslermen. Tufts came here with an undefeated team and was pressed to win the fray. At one time the Panther's held a four run lead but this was lost as a result of ragged fielding. The Medford team tied the count in the ninth and forced one run across the plate after that to take the game with a score of 9-8.

The summary.

Middlebury College Track Team Wins Overwhelming Victory From Norwich and Vermont to Capture Annual Conference Track Meet

Another annual Green Mountain Track and Field classic is a thing of the past. The meet goes on record as another complete triumph for the Blue and White athletes, amassing 82½ points, just a half point less than last year at Norwich, when the total of eighty-three was the biggest score ever made by any team in the history of the conference meets. The Panther athletes completly fulfilled the most optimistic hopes of their supporters. The superiority of the Middlebury team was never in question.

Contrary to schedule the meet was held at the University of Vermont grounds, the weather making it utterly impossible to have the contest on Porter Field as was planned. The Middlebury track virtually became a sea of floating cinders under the influence of rain, making it out of the question to utilize it as anything resembling a race track. The result was the journey of all three teams to Burlington where it was found that the Centennial Field track had weathered the storm well enough to allow competition. It would be an insult to anyone's intelligence to maintain that the track at Vermont was in great condition, but it must be stated that it was in very excellent shape for the circumstances, immeasurably superior to the Middlebury oval. The hundred in 10.3 sec. and the 440 in 52.8 show that the Burlington track could certainly have been worse.

The Panther stars came through the meet in great style. MacLean tied with Fallon for high scoring honors of the Blue and White total, each winning two events. MacLean took the two hurdle races with ease, leading Hurley of Norwich to the tape in both events. Roberts and Hoyle, both Middlebury men, took the third places in the highs and lows respectively. Fallon won his race, the 440 yard dash, outrunning Huey, new Vermont record holder in that event, Chalmers, of Middlebury, taking third. Fallon then stepped into the half mile run, taking that race from his teammate, Thayer. Brown, star of last year's meet, was not in the best of condition but garnered seven points despite the circumstances.

Bibby of the Panther came up fast for two second places in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, forcing the Norwich freshman star, Rowley, to the tape, with little distance between them. Brown took a third in the 100 while third in the 220 yard dash went to Wright of Norwich.

Chase of the Blue and White won the mile run over Hanson, also of the Panther team. R. Short came through for a third, making the event a clean sweep for the Blue. As was expected J. Sears had little trouble in capturing the two mile run while Harwood and Perrin came through in that order to make the race another complete victory for the Panthers.

All first places went to Middlebury in the leaps. Affleck took the high jump while Franchesci, U. V. M., had to be content with second. Smith of Norwich and Schoonmaker of the Blue tied for third. In the broad jump Brown took first, going twenty feet while Williams also of the Blue captured second. Tupper, V, placed third. Captain Paul went over 11 feet 3 inches in the pole vault for first place, a badly sprained ankle preventing any attempts at record breaking heights. Meehan of the Green and Gold jumped second while MacKenzie was credited with third place. MacKenzie broke a bone in his foot due to the bad landing pit and was thereby unable to complete his quota of tries. He looked good for more than a third at the time of his mishap.

The weights, as was expected, were events favoring the opposition. Park, Vermont captain, took firsts in the hammer and shot while Brink tossed the hammer for a second and Lemaire, Norwich, put the shot for a second. The discus found Berry of the Maroon taking what seemed a sure first from the Catamount leader, who was thereby forced to second place. Lemaire of the Maroon came in for a third in this event while Brown of the Panther took a third in the shot put. Lovell hurled the javelin 158.3 feet for first place while Erkkila, also a freshman on the Blue team placed second. Gardner of Vermont hurled the javelin a bare two inches short of Erkkila for the final point.

The summary:

100 yard dash—Won by Rowley (N); second, Bibby; third, Brown. Time, 10.3 seconds. Conference record 10.2 seconds (M) 1926.

220 yard dash—Won by Rowley (N); second, Bibby; third, Wright (V). Time, 23.2 seconds. Conference record 22.6 seconds. (M) 1927.

440 yard dash—Won by Fallon; second, Huey (V); third, Chalmers. Time, 52.8 seconds. Conference record 52.4 seconds (M) 1923.

880 yard dash—Won by Fallon; second, Thayer; third, Huey (V). Time, 2 minutes, 4.9 seconds. Conference record 2 minutes, 1.2 seconds. (V) 1921.

Mile run—Won by Chase; second, Hanson; third, R. Short. Time, 4 minutes, 47.4 seconds. Conference record 4 minutes, 37.5 seconds. (V) 1925, (M) 1929.

Two mile run—Won by Sears; second, Harwood; third, Perrin. Time, 10 minutes, 17.5 seconds. Conference record 10 minutes, 4.8 seconds. (V) 1925.

120 high hurdles—Won by McLean; second, Hurley (N); third, Roberts. Time, 16.2 seconds. Ties conference record (V) 1921.

220 low hurdles—Won by MacLean; second, Hurley (N); third, Hoyle. Time, 26.7 seconds. Conference record 26.4 seconds. (V) 1926, (N) 1930.

Pole vault—Won by Paul; second, Meehan (V); third, MacKenzie. Height 11.5 feet. Conference record 11 feet 7 inches. (M) 1929.

High jump—Won by Affleck; second, Franchesci (V); third, tie between Schoonmaker and Smith (N). Height 5 feet 9 3-8 inches. Conference record, 5 feet, 9 5-8 inches. (M) 1928.

Broad jump—Won by Brown; second, Williams; third, Tupper. Distance 20 feet. Conference record 21 feet, 2¾ inches. (M) 1930.

Shot put—Won by Park (V); second, Lemaire (N); third, Brown. Distance 42.2 feet. New conference record.

Discus throw—Won by Berry (N); second, Park (V); third, Lemaire (N). Distance 118.1 feet. Conference record 128.5 feet. (N) 1922.

Javelin throw—Won by Lovell; second, Erkkila; third, Gardner (V). Distance 158.3 feet. Conference record 177 feet 11 inches. (V) 1927.

Hammer throw—Won by Park (V); second, Brink; third, Lemaire (N). Distance 124.6 feet. Conference record 149.1 feet. (V) 1926.

Middlebury—10 firsts, 8 seconds, 8½ thirds, 82½ points.

Norwich—3 firsts, 3 seconds, 2½ thirds, 26½ points.

Vermont—2 firsts, 4 seconds, 4 thirds, 26 points.

R. P. I. TO BE TRACK OPPONENT SATURDAY

The Middlebury college track team will meet R. P. I. in its last meet of the season at Troy, N. Y., this Saturday, May 30.

After the overwhelming victory which Middlebury won from Norwich and Vermont in the conference meet last Saturday, it is expected that another victory will be annexed. However, with Brown, Deemer, and MacKenzie out of action the Blue will not be nearly as strong in the field events as usual. MacKenzie injured his foot quite seriously at Vermont last week and Brown and Deemer are leaving for a trip around the world. The absence of these men will make the team weak in the dashes, broad jump, and pole vault.

Parlenfein who won both of the dashes for R. P. I. last week in the meet with C. C. N. Y. in 10.5 and 23.4 seconds on a wet track will probably force if not beat Bibby to the tape. MacLean, however, should win his events as the R. P. I. men have not as yet done much better than 17 and he has tied the state record of 16.2 in the highs and is doing considerably better than R. P. I. in the lows.

The 440 should be a fast race, Fallon probably taking first and Sanzo or Chalmers a third.

R. P. I. Stronger in Field Events.

R. P. I. is somewhat stronger in the field events than the Blue. They have two men, Sturges and Panzarella who should take a first and a second in both the discus and shot put. Sturgess is throwing the discus over 125 feet and Panzarella is nearly as good. Panzarella recently broke the R. P. I. shot put record which is now 42 ft. 5 3-4 in.

Affleck who is now doing around 5 ft. 9 in. in the high jump should take first in this event as Palmer of R. P. I. is doing his best at 5 ft. 7 in. Captain Paul will probably win the pole vault. Yet due to an injured ankle and some good competition on the part of Seiple and Suor of R. P. I. he may be forced to take a second. Seiple has been doing around 11 ft. 6 in. this year.

Due to the loss of Brown, Williams, Montgomery, and Johnson will find it hard in the broad jump. Parkhurst of R. P. I. has won this event in every meet this season and is consistently doing about 21 ft. However, he injured an ankle last Saturday in the C. C. N. Y. meet so Williams may be good for a first. Perlenfein will also offer some competition in this event.

NINE WILL PLAY AT NORWICH SATURDAY

Team Has Even Chance in Final Series Game; St. Lawrence Here for Senior Week.

Middlebury will meet Norwich on Sabine field Saturday for the last state series game of the season, and will complete this year's playing when St. Lawrence is entertained on the home diamond June 13 as part of the senior week program.

Middlebury's record for the past week has not been particularly impressive, but all the teams met have been strong. The Clarkson and Tufts games presented the Panthers in two entirely different lights, the first day knocking the ball around the field and throwing away a big lead; the second day playing fine, airtight ball. There is no question that the pitching was better against Clarkson, but the Tufts game was lost entirely on errors and walks, as Middlebury outhit their opponents. The batting, however, shows no great improvement in the ability to come through in the pinches, and continues to be somewhat weak, although stronger than earlier in the season.

The Vermont game showed the same things, pitching good but not quite good enough and the batters failing to hit in the pinches. The defense was all right, however, and the team deserved commendation for doing as well as they did against an admittedly much stronger team. On the basis of recent success, it seems likely that Anderson and Stefaniak will pitch the two remaining games on the schedule.

Norwich has been quite successful in their recent encounters. Vermont was hard put t ogain a 7-5 decision over the Horsemen in their contest last Wednesday. Pitching was fairly effective for the Maroons in that game, for all Vermont runs were scored as a result of errors.

St. Lawrence appears to have a strong team, if their victory over Hamilton 13-2, two weeks ago is considered. However, Hamilton has been taking the bumps at the hands of most of the New York state teams this year, so comparative scores cannot be depended upon to any great extent. Clarkson, which Middlebury defeated with little difficulty behind Stefaniak's good pitching has given Hamilton two decisive drubbings, 6-2 and 12-6.

Chi Psi Wins Intramural Golf Tournament from D. U.

Chi Psi fraternity won the Middlebury College intramural golf tournament this year when the third match of the final round was played off last week, between Fred B. Williams '31, Chi Psi and James W. Chalmers '34, D. U.

The first two matches of the contest were played last fall, in which Peter R. Sorenson '33, Chi Psi defeated Hilles R. Pickens '34, D. U. and Francis H. Hastings '32, Chi Psi lost to Madison M. Hess '32, D. U.

Finals in Women's Tennis Tournament to Be Played

Matches in the women's tennis tournament have progressed as far as the semi-final round. These matches are now being played off, and it is expected that the finals will be played by the end of the week. Those who have advanced to the semi-finals are Marian Ball '33, who plays Zavart Markarian '33, and Miriam Hasseltine '31, who plays Catherine Carrick '32,. The winner will meet Winifred Webster '32.

Only two matches have been played off in the doubles tournament, those who have won are Marian Ball and Zavart Markarian, and Dorothy Cornwall '33, and Elaine Updyke '33.

WOMEN'S BASEBALL SEASON ENDS TODAY

The sophomores defeated the juniors Monday in the gymnasium by the decisive score, 25-4. From the beginning, the underclassmen held the advantage over their weaker rivals although the juniors were allowed an extra half inning at bat.

This defeat definitely puts the juniors out of the running for the championship. The final game of the season will be played this afternoon between the sophomores and freshmen who are now tied for first place.

Juniors vs. Freshmen, 16-1

The junior team was outclassed from the beginning by the strong freshman nine. However, after the first two innings, the underclassmen were unable to come through with more than two runs each time at bat.

PUBLICATION CONTEST WON BY BRATTLEBORO

Pi Delta Epsilon Awards Plaque to Best School Paper in Vermont.

"The Dial" of Brattleboro high school, edited by Evelyn Perry and managed by Edward Fenton, was awarded the Pi Delta Epsilon prize plaque for the best school paper in Vermont at chapel Saturday, May 23, by Kenneth Parker '31, representing Pi Delta Epsilon. Fifteen publications were entered in the contest. Honorable mention went to "The Red and White" of Rutland high school and "The Four Leaf Clover" of Marshfield, Cabot, Plainfield, and Woodbury.

The schools participating in the contest were Derby Academy and the following high schools: Bennington, Fair Haven, Hartford, Montpelier, Newport, Richford, Richmond, Rutland, Spaulding, Waitsfield, Wells River, Woodbury, and Whitcomb.

Judgment was based on subject matter, literary contributions, careful editing, the handling of the business end, journalistic style, and complete coverage of every phase of high school news. The circulation and size of the school were taken into consideration so that the smaller institutions were given equal oportunity with the larger ones.

The editor and business manager of "The Dial" were entertained over the week-end by the Middlebury chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon.

Joint Informal Held at Alpha Sigma Phi House

An informal dance sponsored by the Alpha Sigma Phi and the Beta Kappa fraternities was held at the Alpha Sig house Saturday evening, May 23. Twenty-two couples attended and danced to music by Whittemore's orchestra. The chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. Vernon C. Harrington, and Prof. and Mrs. Frank E. Howard.

Policies Adopted by E. I. N. A.

The annual convention of the association decided to embark upon several new fields of work. The production of a standard style sheet, embodying the principles of the various sheets now used by member papers, was authorized. It was decided that the association should operate a news exchange bureau, particularly for the dissemination of advance athletic information, and should sponsor the exchange of cuts and photos among member papers. Revision of the constitution, to make it conform to present needs of the organization, was also authorized. It was voted that whenever, in the opinion of the president, problems common to all colleges become sufficiently acute, he will have the power to authorize a concerted editorial campaign in all member papers, upon the issue in question. Such a campaign will extend over approximately a week's period, and each editor in the association will treat the matter in one of his issues published during that time. It was felt by the convention that such a unified stand would be far more effective than occasional editorials in individual papers.

At the final business session of the convention held in Carlisle foyer of Springfield college, Saturday afternoon, the following officers for 1931-1932 were selected:

President, Reamer Kline '32; vice-president, Percy C. Hill of the Wesleyan Argus; executive committee; Robert E. Dillon, editor-in-chief of the Holy Cross Tomahawk (in charge of constitutional revision); Jesse W. Eakins, editor-in-chief of the Northeastern News (in charge of style sheet); and John J. Buettner of the Wesleyan Argus (in charge of news exchange). The secretary-treasurer is to be appointed by the president.

Panther Bows to U. V. M.

Vermont defeated the Middlebury team on Centennial Field at Burlington yesterday by a 3-0 score. This victory gave the Green Mountain conference title to the Catamount.

The most interesting feature of the game was the pitching of Rutkowski who fanned three batters, issued no free passes to first, and allowed but eight hits. He kept the singles well scattered and seemed to have perfect control at all times. Olson started the game for Middlebury but was pulled at the end of the fourth in favor of Stefaniak who allowed ten hits for the remainder of the game.

Middlebury had men on the bases in all but two innings, and runners on third four different times. However, the team lacked the punch to send the men home.

Several rules have been carried over from last year. No man breaking a pledge may be pledged by another fraternity during the same year, no first year men shall be prevented from keeping assigned dates, and communications with first year men shall cease after the close of each rushing day.

It is hoped that the later date of rushing week will aid the freshmen to become better acquainted with the different fraternities and that delegation of greater powers to the Interfraternity council will result in greater efficiency.

SENIOR WEEK PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED

twilight musicale, step singing, and fraternity reunions will also be included in the day's program.

The commencement exercises will come at 10:30 a. m. Monday, June 15, at the Congregational church. This will be followed by a commencement dinner at the gymnasium, and at 9:00 p. m. the senior ball will start. This final event of the social year will be held at the gymnasium, and many alumni and undergraduates are planning to attend. McNeely's Melodians of Oneonta, N. Y., will play for dancing until 3:00 a. m., and the farewell chapel service of the class of 1931 will take place in Mead chapel at 5:00 a. m. Tuesday morning.

The final arrangements for the 1931 senior week festivities, under the direction of George Foote, chairman, Geraldine Griffin, vice-chairman, and the committees, are now being completed. The program promises to be a most interesting one for those who attend, and without doubt will be a fitting climax for the activities of the graduating class during their college years.

Might we inquire politely just what is the power that Painterites have had over women during the past week? It's so plain, the fair damsels gather about the dormitory by the hundred on pleasant afternoons. What is it, boys—Lydia Pinkham's vegetable compound? Or the hair?

Good-Bye Fellows

New Officers of French Club Elected at Chateau

A formal banquet was given for the seniors at the Chateau Tuesday evening, May 26. After dinner Mlle. Binand introduced the speakers from each class and the faculty as follows: Katherine W. Bell '34, Marietta Keegan '33, Elizabeth Merriam '32, Jilda M. Pacheco '31, M. Boorsch, and M. Freeman.

The French club met at 8:00 p. m. in the grand salon. Entertainment was given by the juniors and a one-act play, "Un Arriviste" by Miguel Zamacois, was well presented by members of the French faculty, Lucie M. Fitzpatrick, and Rene Morize '32.

Following the program nominations for next year's officers were held. Evelyn M. Clement '32, was elected president, Jeanette B. Phelps '33, vice-president, and Allyn B. White '33, secretary-treasurer.

Alpha Sig and Sig Ep Nines Advance to Baseball Finals

Alpha Sigma Phi defeated Delta Upsilon 2-1 and Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Chi Psi 7-5 in the two semi-final games of the interfraternity baseball series yesterday afternoon.

A. S. P., 2—D. U., 1.

Williams tallied the only run for D. U. In the second inning he hit Joe Hardy for a three bagger and was brought in on a sacrifice by Ide. The Alpha Sigs staged a fourth inning rally and scored two runs on three hits and an error to win the game. Bakeman pitched a good ball for D. U., allowing but four hits.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H	E
A. S. P.	0	0	0	2	0	0	x	2	4	1
D. U.	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	1

Batteries: A. S. P., Hardy, Perry; D. U., Bakeman, Newman. Umpire: Thomas.

S. P. E., 7—Chi Psi, 5.

Chi Psi led for the first five innings and scored three runs in the sixth. However, the Sig Eps staged a rally in the same inning to bring in five runs and tie the score, 5-5. They brought in two runs in the seventh to win the game.

A single, two doubles, and a triple in the sixth brought in the three runs for Chi Psi in that inning while a single, a double, a triple and three errors accounted for the Sig Ep runs. Wardell pitched a good game for S. P. E.

The score by innings:

VARSITY NET MEN DEFEATED TWICE

The tennis team encountered the first two setbacks of the season last week as Union administered a 9-0 whitewash, and Colgate swished its way to a 7-2 victory. The scheduled matches with St. Michael's and St. Lawrence, probable victories for Middlebury, had to be postponed due to poor weather conditions.

In the Union meet the home team took only a single set. The one-sided nature of the defeat may be attributed in part to the hard surface courts of the opponents. All the same Union should be given much praise for its excellent performance.

The Colgate defeat can be attributed solely to the superior playing of Tomkins and Murdoch. These two men were finalists in the recent New York State Championship meet. The two matches taken in this tournament for Middlebury were the doubles won by Flagg and Jennings, and by Allen and Volkmar.
